++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Rather cold with rain spreading northeast today.

Today:
After a dry start cloud and rain will move northeast through the day, although not reaching the far north until late afternoon. Turning drier in the south in the afternoon. Strong southeasterly winds along exposed coasts. Northern Isles mainly dry.

Tonight:
Wind and rain across the north this evening clearing north, becoming confined to Shetland. Elsewhere mainly dry with clear periods, a few showers in the west.

Sunday:
Sunny intervals and scattered showers, these mainly across the west at first but developing more widely by afternoon. Feeling much warmer than of late. Shetland remaining damp.

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
Remaining unsettled with showers, some longer spells of rain in the west. Some drier and brighter weather too, feeling pleasantly warm any sunshine.
